Techspan makes label making easy

Warren Hadler, from Techspan, explains how a TSC TE200 desk top printer can make your workplace safer

We all know that work place safety is paramount, and thankfully, safety is taken seriously these days by most employers.

Techspan has a way of helping you to keep your staff safe when you buy chemicals in bulk and decanter them into bottles to be used machine side.

Every container needs a label to identify the contents. Do you know what is in that bottle? Sure, it looks like wash up fluid and it probably is. You use it every day, right? But do you really know what is in that bottle?

Labelling is not only a way of adding value to consumer products, it is a really effective way of communicating accurate information and warnings about the contents of a package or bottle. Workplace safety has come a long way and, without a doubt, the improvement has prevented injury and saved lives, but there is always room for improvement.

Easy to use: The TSC TE200 desk top printer

For a small cost you can have you own label printer and manage your labelling in house, Techspan carries an extensive range of printers and ribbons. Our TSC TE200 desk top printer combined with our K-5 black thermal transfer ribbon is an ideal combination for work place labelling, as the TE200 printer is small, economic and easy to use. The K-5 ribbon has high resistance qualities. Using this user friendly duo together will get you sorted in no time and you can feel the satisfaction of having added another safety feature in your work place to help look after your valuable staff.

TSC printers are reliable and economical. Techspan carries an extensive range of printers from small desk top models right through to industrial metal cased printers. Features like fast speeds and rich imagery can be achieved. Just talk to one of the team at Techspan for advice and a quotation on which TSC printer is best for your application.

Thermal transfer ribbon is a big part of the Techspan business. We have a big offering of colours available and many grades of black to suit most applications available ex stock. All of it is sourced from leading manufactures and converted to size right here in Auckland.

If you need a printer or thermal transfer ribbon, talk to us at Techspan.

The team at Techspan take this opportunity to thank our valued customers for your business, and wish everybody reading this a safe holiday season and a very Merry Christmas.